

Everyone has a story.

MAKE YOURS ABOUT JUSTICE.

APPLY NOW FOR THE
CARL A. BIMSON

Seminar on Storytelling for Social Justice

a hybrid professional development opportunity beginning June 12 and concluding on December 9, 2024

APPLICATION DEADLINE: Friday, May 24, 2024

This seminar is limited to 20 teachers.

About the Seminar

Are you a secondary public school teacher who is committed to anti-bias, anti-racist teaching? Are you seeking an interdisciplinary community of colleagues who share this commitment? Could you use practical pedagogical tools to support your work?

This highly interactive hybrid seminar in the humanities is designed especially for you!

What You'll Receive

This is a no-cost professional development opportunity! For attending all institute meetings and completing the seminar requirements, you will receive:

- A $500 stipend
- All books and materials
- The opportunity to purchase CSU graduate credit at a greatly reduced rate

Dates/Locations

- ✓ June 12-14 (9:00am-3:30pm each day): Kick-off retreat, CSU campus
- ✓ Sat., July 27 (8:30am-12:30pm): Zoom workshop
- ✓ Sept. 10, Oct. 15, and Nov. 12 (all Tuesdays, 5-6:30pm): Zoom inquiry sessions
- ✓ Sat., Dec. 7 (9:00am-3:30pm): Project showcase, CSU campus

What You'll Gain

Anti-Bias, Anti-Racist Teaching Strategies

For implementing the Storytelling for Social Justice model in your classroom

Critical Literacy Tools

For complicating narratives in traditional curriculum that reflect racism, bias, and oppression and uncovering less well-known stories of individuals & communities who've challenged social inequities

Counternarrative Storytelling Methods

For constructing new narratives that work for a more just and peaceful world

Models for Curriculum Design

To develop content-specific curriculum you can use immediately with your own students

Advocacy Skills

For promoting critical dialogue on issues that you may encounter when teaching and learning for justice

Community Support

For learning together in a courageous community of equity-centered educators

Visit the CSU Writing Project website for more information and to submit your application:

<https://tinyurl.com/2zm5t3z9>

